HALLUCINATIONS OF A LAD THROWS FRIGHT INTO CREW.

Boy Near Johnstown Flags Pennsylvania Flyer With Thrilling Tale That Didn't Pan Out.

United Press Telegram.
JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 13.—"I was captured by two highwaymen and compelled to carry rocks to the westbound track on which the New York and Chicago flyer was approaching, for the purpose of wrecking the train. The train was to have been wrecked at West Duncannon station."
This statement from John Kretzinger, aged 18, threw the crew of the flyer into a panic early today after the train had been stopped by the frantic waving of a lantern by the boy in the middle of the track.

A search of the tracks and the surrounding country failed to locate any trace of the bandits or rocks the boy mentioned. Detectives are holding Kretzinger on the belief that he is suffering delusions from reading of the Lewis and Clark hold-up.

FIRE WORKS ENDS
DAY'S CELEBRATION.Big Crowd Witnessed Fine
Display on South Side
Last Night.

THE SPEAKING IN SLAVISH HALL

Columbus Day Festivities by Connellville Italians Were Admirable and Held Crowd in Town Throughout the Day.

The curtain was rung down on a successful Columbus Day celebration last night when the big fireworks display was sent up from the vacant space on the South Side, near the Armory. The selection of the site was a happy one, as thousands were afforded an excellent view of the display. In spite of the raw, cold wind, which blew from the river, and the unusually cold weather, the entire space was taken up with a crowded mass of spectators. Thousands shivered in the night air to see the display; scores crowded about the bonfire that were hastily lighted for the purpose of warming frost-bitten toes. The set pieces of the display, which were exceptionally elaborate and were put off successfully in spite of adverse weather conditions. Besides elaborate set pieces showing Christopher Columbus, the Goddess of Liberty, Italian and American emblems and other designs, the rockets were beautiful. There was lots of noise in connection with the display and for a time it sounded as though the town was being bombarded. The committee made good on its promise to put on an excellent fireworks display, and did it in spite of adverse conditions. There was some excitement when a very artificial noise was towed about the place. Several people were knocked down evading the animal, but it was all in fun and there wasn't even a temper lost.

For some reason there was but one arch of the down town decorations lighted last night. Efforts were made to get them all under way, but the time required to rig up the fireworks display gave the men insufficient time to fill the glasses and get these lights going. The wind was also against them here, too.

The parade yesterday afternoon made a good appearance. In spite of a tedious delay in getting started, the whole route was covered according to the schedule. Consul Caldarus of Fairmont, Judge R. E. Umbel of Uniontown, Burgess J. L. Evans, and Rockwell Marletta occupied the landau drawn by four milk white steeds. Then came the automobiles with other distinguished guests, and the only carrying more friends of the Columbus Day committee. The societies turned out in full force. The fire wagon was in line just as it came from the South Side fire a short time previous. The firemen did not have time to doff their rubber coats, which were not any too warm in the cold breeze.

The floats of the Santa Maria and the Landing of Columbus were unique and well executed.

A representative gathering of Italians as well as a number of prominent politicians heard the addresses delivered at the West Side Auditorium following the parade yesterday.

afternoon. Attorney George Jeffries of Uniontown was master of ceremonies. Attorney Jeffries in a few but eloquent remarks introduced to the audience Judge R. E. Umbel. Judge Umbel in his address paid a tribute to the Italians. He said: "I am better acquainted with the Italians than any other race of foreigners. I have visited the beautiful country of Italy and have seen them during a great mourning period as well as during great celebration. I believe that the Italians are the most earnest and zealous workers of the foreign race. When they have any one thing in view they accomplish it. Christopher Columbus accomplished one of the greatest feats that was ever accomplished. Christopher Columbus was one of the common people and lived in poverty many years of his life."

The next speaker was Vice Consul G. Caldarus of Fairmont. Consul Caldarus was royally received by his countrymen and as he took his place to the front of the stage an Italian selection was rendered by the Italian band. Following Consul Caldarus' address H. Pusarini, a prominent Italian of Uniontown, was introduced by master of ceremonies.

Thereafter was as royally received as was Consul Caldarus. Following the rendition of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Italian band, Mr. Pusarini commenced his address and the Italian patriotism was aroused to the highest pitch during it. At times the auditorium fairly shook from the deafening applause. From the attention given him and the manner in which he was received Mr. Pusarini's talk was certainly one that will leave a lasting impression upon his people. The last speaker on the program was Frank Maddas also a prominent Italian of Uniontown. Mr. Maddas urged the fathers and mothers to give their children an American education in order to fit them for good positions in life. Mr. Maddas claims that the time will come when the Italians will hold prominent positions in America. He also said that he believed the time would come when Columbus Day would be a National holiday.

In speaking of the landing of Christopher Columbus, Attorney Jeffries said: "We read in our histories of Christopher Columbus landing on the shores of the island of San Salvador but since looking over this large and fertile I believe he landed upon the shores of Mud Island."

The audience was orderly during the entire program and during the addresses not a sound was heard. There were committees to look after the handling of the crowd and they saw that everybody was comfortably seated and also saw that the host of order was maintained.

Among those seated on the stage with the speakers were E. T. Norton and E. R. Photo. Following the speaking a banquet was served at the Columbia Hotel in honor of Judge R. E. Umbel. Covers were laid for 75. The guests included prominent local citizens as well as a number of Uniontown citizens. J. C. Morrow, Esq., of Pittsburgh and well known in this section was also a guest.

A Killing Frost Is Predicted for Western Pennsylvania Tonight.

A killing frost is predicted tonight in the noon weather forecast and conditions existing here today do not tend to dispute the prophecy. Slowly rising temperature on Thursday is promised.

All records for the present season went to smash this morning, when the mercury here registered 38 degrees. It was not quite so cold yesterday, 46 being the morning and evening mark, but the raw wind which swept the town made things decidedly disagreeable.

Those who have braved the clips of frosty weather that have preceded this spell succumbed at last yesterday and were forced to bring out their overcoats. Top garments were much in evidence this morning and felt comfortable, too. Practically all vegetation will be killed if the promised frost comes along according to schedule.

As a harbinger of the white mantle of winter soon to cover the country, buckwheat flour is making its appearance in market and maple syrup will be in demand. That is the one redeeming feature of winter for those who are not particularly enamored of cold weather, frosted toes and other minor inconveniences.

VIEWS OF KEY WEST, WHERE HURRICANE

EXECUTED TODAY.Prof. Ferrer Shot to Death
After a Mock Trial for Revolutionary Plan.

SOCIALISTS ARE NOW AROUSED

Feared That Retaliatory Steps Will Be Taken and King of Spain's Life Endangered—England Took Intense Interest in the Affair.

United Press Telegram.
LONDON, Oct. 13.—All Europe is aroused over the execution of Prof. Francisco Ferrer, who was shot to death today in Spain and it is feared that the life of King Alfonso will be endangered as a consequence. The Socialists of the continent are aroused and declare in bitter terms that they will have revenge for the death of Ferrer.

Prof. Ferrer was tried at a court martial for complicity in the July revolution. On all sides it is declared the trial was a farce and a travesty of justice. Socialists throughout France and a host of other friends and admirers of Ferrer hoped to the last that King Alfonso would commute the sentence.

The revolutionists have sworn to avenge the killing of Ferrer, who was shot early today in Mont Juth fortress. They will, it is declared, seek the life of the King.

In England keen interest has been taken in the affair. Sentiment has been with Ferrer, whom the English believed was unjustly accused. The most outspoken comment was an editorial in the London News which says: "If Ferrer, one of the noblest and most unselfish men of Europe, worthy of being called the Tolstoy of Spain, is murdered after a mock trial, the civilized world will suffer humiliation."

SAM A LUCKY MAN.

Woman Who Had Golf Locked Up
Later Paid His Fine.

Sam Golf is a lucky man. Sam accumulated quite a big yesterday and became ugly over it. He went into the Magyar restaurant on the West Side and began abusing the woman who runs the establishment. She hid him arrested. Officers Lowland and Rull placed him behind the bars.

This morning the woman came to the police station and interviewed Sam. They made up and she paid his fine of $3.50.

Pumping Plant on Kenney Farm Near Centerville Blown Up, Men Have Thrilling Escapes.

Special to The Courier.
CENTREVILLE, Pa., Oct. 13.—The gas pumping station on the Greensboro Natural Gas Company on the Kenney farm near here, was completely destroyed by an explosion and fire last night. Three men were injured, one of the possibly fatally. The injured are:

C. L. KENNEY, superintendent, seriously burned and bruised. Will recover.

O. H. SUMMERILL, an employee. Fatally injured.

CHARLES SUMMER, an employee. Painfully but not seriously burned.

Gas had been escaping in the station and Superintendent Kenney had gone to the plant to remedy the trouble. He was at work on the engine when the explosion occurred. The other two men were in the room with him. All three were hurled against the walls and for an instant stunned.

Summerill's clothing was ablaze all over. Despite this he ran over 100 yards to the station dam and jumped into the water. This saved his life at the time, but physicians have little hope for his recovery. The three men barely had time to crawl from the wrecked building before it was a mass of flames.

The explosion, it is thought, was caused from a spark from the gas engine.

Superintendent C. L. Kenney is a brother of C. W. Kenney of the West Penn. Railways Company with headquarters in Connellsville. He is a well known official of the Greensboro Gas Company. C. W. Kenney left for Centerville this afternoon.

STATE RAILROAD BOARD
AT UNIONTOWN TODAYThere to Investigate a Complaint
Against the Baltimore & Ohio Company.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 13.—For the first time since it was created, the State Railroad Commission, composed of Judge Nathaniel Ewing of Uniontown, John Y. Boyd of Philadelphia, and Charles N. Mann of Harrisburg, accompanied by Secretary H. S. Calvert, is in Uniontown today.

The Commission arrived here at 1:45 and was entertained at dinner at the Country Club by Judge Ewing. The members were at Smithfield investigating the complaint of O'Garra Warden Ralph Ross, who kicked vigorously against the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for abandoning passenger service on the Smithfield & Masonstown branch about a year ago. This service has since been partially restored, one train a day being run in each direction.

THOUSANDS DROWN WHEN THEIR HOUSEBOATS SINKList of Dead in Key West Hurricane Continues to Grow Rapidly.

United Press Telegram.
NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 13.—One thousand men were drowned when the house boats in which they camped were wrecked along the line of the Florida Coast road, according to a wireless message received here. News by wireless is conflicting, it seeming difficult to determine actual conditions. The message says a greater part of the railway was washed away. Various messages, however, declare loss of life on the lower Keys to be heavy.

Mayor Fogarty of Key West issued an appeal for aid today, saying practically every house in the town is demolished or damaged so those who still have homes can scarcely care for their own families. Starvation and distress, he declares, stares the people in the face.

DIED OF INJURIES
AT THE HOSPITALMiner Who Was Pinned Beneath
Companion and Post Was Hurt
Internally.

Gabriel Hodinka, the foreigner who was caught by a fall of slate in the Chasmin mines on Monday afternoon, died last night of internal injuries at the Cottage hospital. Hodinka was badly injured. He was working with Andy Borza when the fall occurred. Borza was killed instantly and Hodinka was pinned under the mass of slate for three hours.

Hodinka was conscious after his removal from the mines and there were no bruises about his body. It was at first thought that his injuries were only slight and that he would be able to return to work in a few days. He was 40 years old and leaves a wife and four children. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning.

SUMERS PITCHES TODAY.

Jennings Will Save Donovan For the Critical Game.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—(Special.) It is clear and cool here today for the fourth game of the world's series. It was expected Donovan would pitch for Detroit, but Jennings stated this morning he would hold him for the crucial game and send Sumers to the mound today. Clarke decided on Babe Adams for Pittsburgh.

Jack Miller was fined $50 for buck talk to umpire Klem yesterday when called out on strikes. Bill Donovan was fined $25 for the same offense when ordered from the field.

Hoboes Had Money to Buy Booze
But None to Pay for Use of Soap.

After a long chase over the coke ovens this morning, Officers John A. Love and P. M. Rull arrested two hoboes whom they were after for making threats against William Moore, a negro. The officers were also looking for a negro who is alleged to have chased Moore with a knife into the machine shop at Davidson works.

Moore came to town after the officers, who responded promptly. The missing negro saw them coming and skipped, but the two hoboes did not get so good a start. After a chase covering more than a mile the officers landed their men. One of the Police Court.

The Italians of the community can congratulate themselves on the record their countrymen made yesterday. Of the large number of drunks arrested yesterday, there was but one Italian, Nick Alfieri, who got into an argument with a bartender, Albert Montanaga, a Spaniard who hails from New York, edited a crowd on Main street for almost an hour, haranguing them because no honor was paid to Spain in the Columbus Day celebration. He would probably have been talking yet but for the arrival of the police. He produced $5.

Frank Miller, a negro living in Dutch Bottom, was charged with being drunk and belligerent. He did not dispute the charge, but said he did not fight.

"A fellow filed loose and hit me and then the police pulled me in," was Miller's explanation. It was a good one, so he got off with 48 hours for the jail.

Lin Robbins made his first appearance in police court in several months and was discharged. Frank Nabors of Uniontown was also discharged.

John McLaughlin of the Morgan valley was somewhat dazed when he faced the Burgess. He wasn't sure how much money he ought to have had. After being fined $3.50 he went home.

Tony Roberts of the West Side was drunk and disorderly. He will spend 72 hours in the police station.

FIRE DEPARTMENT
HAS A BUSY DAYCall Last Evening Was to Put Out
Blaze at the Old B. & O.
Sedon Shops.

The Fire Department had a busy day of it yesterday. About 7 o'clock last night the firemen were called to Sedon shops, along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad several hundred yards west of the depot. The boiler house was on fire. When the department arrived the entire building was ablaze, but a stream of water soon put the fire out. The cause of the fire is unknown. The boiler there is used to keep the passenger coaches heated.

Trains Nos. 4 and 49 were delayed for a few minutes by the lines of hose which were stretched across the track. The other alarm turned in yesterday was at J. H. Hamilton's residence, corner of Cedar avenue and Vine street. But little damage was done.

REACHED AGREEMENT IN THE EVANS CASE

Father to Have Custody of His Children One Half Day Each Week.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 13.—The attorney in the matter of the application of C. E. Evans of Lower Tyrone township for habeas corpus proceedings for the possession of his children reached an agreement without coming to a hearing, and the court in accordance with that agreement made the following order: Ada M. Evans, the mother of the children, shall have the custody and possession of the children, namely Edna Evans, Jennie Evans and Harry Evans; the petitioner, Charles E. Evans, the father of the children, to have the custody and possession of said children one-half day each week, on such day and at such time as shall be convenient to the petitioner; neither the petitioner nor the respondent to remove any of said children from the jurisdiction of the court; the costs to be paid by the petitioner, but the respondent to tax no witness costs.

THE TABLES TURNED ON STREET BARKER

Didn't Live Up to His Agreement, Causes Foreigner's Arrest and is Himself Fined.

The tables were turned on William Moran, a Barker from McKeesport, in police court today, when he was arrested and fined after preferring charges which cost Nick Allere $3.50. Moran ran a stand along Pittsburgh street yesterday, offering prizes to the ones who could throw baseballs into a barrel.

At the hearing this morning it was brought out that Moran had, on one occasion, promised to give a dollar to the man who tossed all three balls into the barrel. The man performed the feat and got 50 cents. Trouble followed but no arrests were made.

After hearing the story this morning Burgess Evans fined Allere $3.50 and then ordered charges entered against Moran. He paid the same sum and was advised to stay away from Conneltsville during the next celebration.

THE WEST PENN SUE FOR BIG DAMAGES

Clifford C. Blitzer Wants $50,000 for the Loss of Both His Legs. Other Court News.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 13.—Clifford C. Blitzer, a former motorist from the West Penn Railways Company, has brought suit against the said company to recover damages for injuries received in a wreck on said road in October, 1907, at Hecla station, in which his legs and body were cut and badly lacerated, both legs having to be amputated. He asks $50,000 damages from the defendant company. The statement was filed.

Lizzie Dolak thinks Annie Matty should pay her $1,000 for calling her hard names on October 3, 1909, at Bearlights, and brings suit to recover that amount. Her statement was filed Tuesday afternoon.

In the matter of the petition of the citizens of North Union township asking for a public road to be laid out on the public road leading from Uniontown to Conneltsville at a point near Kerr street and intersecting the said road at a point some 500 feet farther out, the court appointed W. S. McClary, J. W. Beatty and Thomas L. Howard viewers to investigate the matter and report their conclusion to the court.

In the application of Joseph Solomon of New Salem, for an injunction against Charles Bryan, of the same place, to restrain the defendant from going into business in New Salem during the continuance of the least between the parties concerned, the bill for an injunction was presented and a bill of complaint filed.

ARE YOU GETTING AHEAD?

Do These Prosperous Times Mean Anything to You?

There is a time in almost every man's life when he must decide whether he is ever going to be worth anything or whether he will just live from hand to mouth all his days. You are probably not taking full advantage of the prevailing prosperity in all lines, unless you are saving something. It's a good time to decide that you will lift yourself out of a rut—that you will save something and be ready for an opportunity to better yourself. A savings account in the First National Bank of Conneltsville, where you can deposit small sums from time to time and receive 4 per cent interest on all your savings, is a great help. You can begin anytime with $1 or more.

Comparison of Batting Averages Of the Pirates and the Tigers.

A comparison of the batting averages of the Pirates and the Tigers, the two best teams of the world, the series shows the Pirates far in the lead. Hans Wagner is now the only Pirate who has kept near the lead with the attack. On the other hand, all the Tigers have made good except Sam Crawford and Schmidt, who are down in the rear. Crawford's work has been as big a disappointment to the Detroit fans as Clarke's has for Pittsburgh.

Owen Bush now leads all the batters with a percentage of .325. Wagner and Delahanty are tied at .291, with D. Jones next at .281. Lench has .283 to his credit, and then Morfitt, Cobb, Tom Jones and Starnes rank ahead of the next Pirates, Abstein, Dwyer, Wilson and Miller. Only the averages of the regulars are given.

D. Jones and Lench lead the run getters with four apiece. Bush, Tom Jones and Morfitt have three each, and two each for Wagner, Cobb, Del-

SWOOP DOWN ON GAMBLERS

Squad of Police Make Spectacular Raid on Race Track.

New York, Oct. 12.—A fresh chapter in Governor Hughes' anti-race track gambling crusade resulted in twelve arrests at the Jamaica track. A squad of mounted police and a small army of detectives were on hand and between the second and third races, when the laying of odds was in full blast, they swooped down on the betting ring and gathered in dozens of gamblers, several of whom were widely known. All were charged with making or recording of bets upon contests of speed.

The raid was as unexpected as it was spectacular. Members of a squad of detectives placed themselves unobtrusively about the betting ring, awaiting a signal from the mounted police. Just after the second race the mounted officers galloped to the entrance of the ring and blocked all exit. The detectives, headed by Inspector Kelly and Captain Wendell, threw themselves in the ring and began to search for evidence.

LIVED LIKE A TRAMP

Detective Plays Part of Hebe and Captures His Man.

Providence, R. I., Oct. 12.—Detective William L. Rose, who lived for ten weeks in a shack at Seekonk, Mass., with Joseph P. Corbett, furnished the evidence on which Corbett was arrested on a charge of murdering Charles E. Randall last January. Randall was paymaster of the Glen-Hey dye works and was held up and shot while carrying the concern's payroll.

"I sought to gain the confidence of the suspect by entering into his life as one of his supporters in anything that might be undertaken. I lived at his place and there I met other men who have been associates of Corbett. I was a tramp to all intents and purposes."

A PLEASANT WAY TO CURE CATARRH.

Poor dejected victims Continually sprinkling and spraying and stomach dosing.

What are you doing it for? Trying to kill the catarrh germs? Might just as well try to kill a cat with fresh milk.

Sticking a piece of chewing gum in the upper left hand corner of the right ear would slaughter just as many germs.

You can't kill the germs that cause catarrh unless you get where they are. You can get where the germs are by breathing Hyomel, the powerful yet soothing antiseptic, which is prepared especially to kill catarrh germs.

Just breathe it in, that's all. It gives joyful relief in five minutes. It is guaranteed by A. A. Clarke to cure catarrh of any money back.

It is sold by leading druggists, everywhere. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs $1.00. Extra bottles, 50 c. Cures sore throat, coughs and colds.

"I take especial pride in recommending Hyomel to asthmatic sufferers, as I know by experience that it is a remedy that cures. I have not since using Hyomel had any recurrence of asthma."—Mrs. Wm. Burdette, Owosso, Mich., June 22, 1909.

WEDNESDAY EVE'G., OCT. 13, 1903.

A DEMOCRATIC ORGAN'S VAGUE VIEWS OF PROTECTION.

The Connelleville News taking its cue from the Johnstown Democrat dips into the deep waters of the tariff question and attempts in its weak and feeble way to show that we have been inconsistent in this matter since the Democratic party turned aside from the broad highway of sane statesmanship and fell into the tangled maze of Bryanism and Populism, leaving a great army of its former members trailing along the Pike where they are not long in overtaking the Republican party with whom they have since been travelling to their mutual satisfaction.

The Official Organ indicates that we have a "chameleon-like hide," that's a good word, but it doesn't fit The Courier. It is more suitable to those Democrats who for the sake of remaining Democrats in name have changed every political principle they ever held, whose political hides reflect new Bryan colors every campaign, whose political intelligence does not rise high enough to think for itself and whose political status is fixed by the Talking Theorist of Nebraska. The Courier has been consistent and independent and for the policies best calculated to make the whole people prosperous and happy. The Official Organ shows the insinuation of its own contemporaries that our opposition to the West Virginia proposition to tax natural gas is a Republican tariff heresy and a return to Democratic Free Trade. We are also accused of growling about the print paper tariff designed to "protect" the American print paper business, and thereby betraying our inconsistency in the matter of protection to home industries.

To reply to the first indictment, we will say that The Courier never was a Free Trade paper, but that it was always an advocate of Protection, and that in this position it had the company of many distinguished Democrats of Pennsylvania. Upon this economic question we stand just where we have always stood. We have always advocated a protective tariff, and have recoiled both Democratic and Republican demands for tariff revision when such a revision seemed necessary in the interests of justice, but never have we demanded Free Trade or stood for monopoly.

It is true that we and most other newspaper men, including Editor North and Editor Bailey, thought the duty on print paper was unnecessary and demanded its abolition, and we all think so yet. It is a large question which we will not here and now undertake to enter upon at length but it is sufficient to say that a special Congressional committee, composed largely of Republicans and Protectionists, which investigated paper trade conditions in a most searching manner, reported that the duty on print paper should be removed because the paper industry did not need any such protection.

The duty on print paper was not removed, but it was very materially cut down. Many other reductions and adjustments were made that perhaps do not meet the approval of the consuming interest, but, "One swallow does not make a summer," nor do one or more defects in a tariff bill justify opposition to it within the ranks of the party which framed it if it follows in a general way the policy of the party and redeems its pledges. In short, whatever mistakes the Republican Congress may have made in revising the tariff, it did not depart from the Republican policy of Protection.

That policy has been the chief means of developing our natural resources, piling up our wealth, increasing our population and making us within the short span of a century the greatest nation in the world. I was thus two hundred years ago this nation was a wilderness inhabited by savages. Look at it now and consider well the fact that its greatest growth has been under the Republican policy of Protection.

For the same reason that we believe in and advocate Protection as a national policy, we believe in and advocate Free Trade as between the States. Protection to our manufacturers against foreign competition reflects the profits of home industry upon the whole country regardless of divisional lines but if one State were permitted to levy taxes against another commerce would languish and industrial development whither up. The framers of the Constitution foresaw all these things clearly when they took out of the hands of the States the right to levy such duties and gave to the Federal Government the power to regulate interstate commerce.

Editor North and Editor Bailey and Editor Evans have queer theories about the tariff question and some other questions, but the Republican doctrine of Protection is built upon the Rock of Experience, and the People may be forgiven for preferring to stand upon the Rock rather than to wander around among the bogs with a band of modern political Nebuchadnezzars eating the grass and husks and cranberries of defeat and discredit.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS AND THE SENATE.

The English House of Lords is reported to be in danger of abolition. There is no special reason for its existence. It represents nothing but special privilege and an unwholesome commingling of Church and State. It is not analogous to the American Senate in any way. Its function as a check upon hasty and ill advised legislation. The vital difference between the two august bodies lies in the fact that the House of Lords is appointed by the Sovereign, while the American Senate is chosen by the direct representatives of the Sovereign People.

The American Senate, it is true has been charged with being a "millionaire's Club" representing exclusively Trusts and Monopolies, and it must be confessed that there have been and are members of the Senate who undoubtedly do represent more or less those interests but they are by no means a majority of the body, and they are in office only through the sanction of the people, who have a habit of waking up every now and then when their public servants get too noisy and too naughty.

The American Senate is still safe and sane and capable of serving the excellent purpose which the Fathers of the Constitution designed it to serve; and those wise old patriots no doubt laid its foundations deeply and solidly and securely so that they might not be uprooted by any sudden gust of public passion.

Chairman Johns hears that some Republicans in Fayette county are in different to the whole or a part of the Republican ticket. There has been a great deal of contention in times past as to who were the real, Simon-pure, unadorned Republicans of Fayette county and it is worthy to be leaders of the movement. Perhaps the Republican will develop some interesting evidence on this point but we hope not. The Republicans have a good ticket. They should support it with impartiality and unanimity and we trust they will, but if any depart from this duty in any particular they should be held personally responsible for their defection. Let every tub stand upon its own bottom.

The Suberville tragedy is full of romance and tragedy and mystery.

"Carrying coals to New Castle" is an ancient English joke which would ordinarily be paralleled by carrying coal to the Connelleville coke region, yet the practice is not uncommon or carrying foreign coals to this region to be sold for the purpose of testing their quality. It may be added that the results are always measured by the Connelleville standard, and that the Connelleville coke still remains the best furnace fuel in the world.

We lead, others follow. Watch 'em trailing along behind and pretending that they can't see anybody in front.

Out in Colorado the plaintiff is permitted to go into court and demand "body judgment." We presume this means that the complainant desires permission to take it out of the hide of the defendant.

Columbus went up in a blaze of glory last night.

It was a cold day but Connelleville had a hot time.

There is no good reason why the representatives of the law should differ in their methods at any time, no matter whether they be actually deputed to represent a particular interest or not, but if they do the presumption must be on the side of the representative of that branch of justice which has no special interests to serve.

And the same day it snowed.

The Johnstown Democrat says Westmoreland county's Democratic decadence is due to Quakerism. Observant persons are of the opinion that it is due to Bryanism.

Ambassador Crane got it in the neck. His neck was too long, say-ho.

J. Frost has been flirting with the flowers and now they are sorry they permitted such familiarity.

Connellsville has the Ventilation lights and the gondollers, but the gondollers haven't arrived yet. They are reported to be at the foot of navigation down toward McKeesport. Dam the Yough!

The Campaign Facts of an Official Organ are usually as highly colored as the Ventilation lights.

If Columbus came to Connelleville he would undoubtedly exclaim: "Dam the Yough!"

COLUMBUS DAY AT SCOTSDALE.

Seventy Couples Attend Banquet at Temperance Hall Last Night.

GLOWING ADDRESSES MADE

Hallowe'en Celebration Now Under Way, and Another Meeting Scheduled—Fare to Pittsburgh—Prominent Women Injured.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 12.—There were 70 couples at the reception and banquet given by Scottdale Council, No. 117, Knights of Columbus, at Temperance Hall last night, in honor of the one whose name the order bears fittingly to the occasion, since it was a woman's interest that made it possible for Columbus to make his voyage of discovery, there were many women present. The decorations of the hall were stars and stripes and between them the emblems of the order. Kitz's orchestra played during the banquet and for the dance that followed. Charming solos were sung by Miss Mary Yahrer and J. Alexander Yahrer of Scottdale and Miss Mary Ida McFie of Mt. Pleasant, and there were guests present from Connelville, Uniontown, Jeannette, Greensburg, Mt. Pleasant and other nearby towns.

Arthur Kitz was toastmaster, and toasts were responded to by several. "The Duties of the Lady to the Church" was the subject of the response by the Very Rev. M. A. Lambing, pastor of St. John's, in which he depicted the duties of the lady. "Our Order" was the subject upon which Robert J. Ryan made a brilliant address. He told of the one who did so much for the world in general, and this country in particular, who arose above the petty mutterings of the ignorant with the courage of his convictions to accomplish his great mission, where every action was a sacrifice to the welfare of mankind, bearing us to the temple of charity for all, and who as a crowning feature of a life of humanity went down to the grave almost unhonored and unknown, unconscious of the great work that he had done for mankind. It was the consciousness of this apparent ingratitude that was the primary cause for the founding of this order of the Knights of Columbus. "Religion and Citizenship" was the topic discussed by Rev. G. M. O'Donnell of Mt. Pleasant, who spoke of the duty of every dweller in this land to carry out the principles of virtue of its discoverer and preserve this as a country of freedom.

"Our Holiday" was the sentiment responded to by Attorney James R. D. Gray, National delegate, of Uniontown, who among other things congratulated the order upon its influence in passing the bill which set the day apart as one in which to honor the name of the discoverer.

The committee having the event in charge was composed of R. M. Evans, James Byrne, Stephen Arkwright, John Vencer, James McKee and W. M. Doolley.

Hallowe'en Meeting.

Hallowe'en was taken care of in an initial war for this year by a meeting held at the Borough building last night, when a start was made toward the celebration of the night. Former Burgess William Ferguson, under whose administration the celebration of the night was inaugurated here, was elected chairman of the Arrangement Committee, and George B. Shupe was named as the Secretary. There will be another meeting on Friday evening to which the public is cordially invited.

TRESPASSING

On the Railroads Cause of Great Loss of Life.

Trespassing on railroad property, in violation of the law, has been responsible for the deaths of 17,416 people in the United States in the last 10 years. In the same period, more than 50,000 trespassers were injured. It is in view of these facts that many of the important railroads have determined to redouble their efforts to secure in this country that rigid enforcement of the law against trespassing which, in England, has reduced the practice—and accidents to trespassers—to a minimum.

The number of people killed while trespassing on railroads has been increasing every year. In 1898, 4,063 trespassers lost their lives on American railroads, five years later the number was 5,000, and in 1907, the number killed was 5,612—more than 15 a day. These figures are taken from the annual reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Figures compiled by the Pennsylvania railroad alone show that 465 trespassers lost their lives on that system's lines in 1907; 781 were killed in 1904; while in 1907 the number reached 815—an average of almost three for every business day in the year in the 10 years prior to January 1, 1909, exactly 7,240 people, who were on the Pennsylvania's right of way in willful violation of the law, and in spite of thousands of warning signs along the railroad, were killed. In addition, during the first six months of this year 285 trespassers were killed.

It is not only tramps who are killed and injured while trespassing—though thousands of them lose their lives in this way every year—but also men of the laboring class, factory workmen, their wives and children who use railroad tracks as thoroughfares. This practice gives added significance to the figures from the Pennsylvania system, the tracks of which, lined with factories, run through the densest industrial sections through territory which holds more than one-half of the population of the United States. On these tracks and adjacent property over 11,000 trespassers were arrested in 1908. The alarming death toll from trespassing on railroad property, which from 1899 to 1909 was nearly four

The strength of the bleeding man was going fast, but grim determination to do the right thing kept him up.

"Find out where he is and get him," he commanded.

The girl turned back to the phone, and her voice brightened as she recognized the person at the other end of the wire.

"Oh, is that you, Miss 'Frances'?" she cried. "This is Lucy Smith. Yes, ma'am, I'm at the works. There's been trouble here, and Mr. Sommers must come right away. There's something wrong with the Sommers gun. What? You say come up to your house?"

She looked away from the phone a moment, then turned back to the receiver, and in response to Frances Duran's sharp, anxious command.

"Yes, ma'am. O'Leary made me phone I want to warn Mr. Sommers. There's something wrong with the gun. No, ma'am. It ain't sure. We suspect."

Lucy looked at the receiver, then turned back to the phone, and in response to Frances Duran's sharp, anxious command.

"Yes, ma'am. O'Leary made me phone I want to warn Mr. Sommers. There's something wrong with the gun. No, ma'am. It ain't sure. We suspect."

Lucy looked at the receiver, then turned back to the phone, and in response to Frances Duran's sharp, anxious command.

"Oh, I can't leave you if you are hurt bad?" she half sobbed.

"If all the strength he could command O'Leary might her arm."

"Don't trouble about me. Hurry over and don't let Miss 'Frances' tell you and don't let any one else."

Still the girl hesitated, but just then a man entered the office from the street.

"What's happened O'Leary?"

The assistant foreman was almost too weak from the shock and loss of blood to reply, but he managed to gasp out faintly.

"Smith cracked me with a hammer when I wasn't looking. He's fighting drunk. Mr. Marsh and Smithing the Sommers gun."

Marsh repeated about the works, was examining O'Leary's wounded head with almost professional skill.

"You've got a bad rap, boy. We must rush you to the doctor."

He stepped to the door leading into the works and called for two men.

Two men came back to do what he could. Pluckey had almost at the same moment returned from his private office.

"What's this?" he exclaimed as he saw the bloody O'Leary half lying across an office table.

The workman, injured though he was, still held to his grim determination to get justice for Sommers at Pluckey's question he half inhaled himself on the table.

"O'Leary, sir," he said to the gun tooling in the furnace. "I killed, and he hit me when my back was turned. I'll fix him."

Pluckey looked at the bloody man coldly.

"You ought to have more sense than to kill," he said. "Smith's in charge of that job. He's responsible. It's none of your business. You ought to have kept your head shut."

O'Leary stared at the younger too amazed to reply. He was still half dazed from the terrific blow he had received or his suspicions would have been immediately aroused. The two men had entered from the works and stood ready. They knew just what to do.

"Here," ordered Pluckey, "take this fellow across to the doctor quick. Tell him it's a work case."

The two men seized O'Leary, picked him up in their arms and hurried with him out of the office.

Marsh turned to the general manager.

"We've got to stop this Mr. Pluckey," he exclaimed. "Smith is fighting drunk."

Pluckey nodded carelessly.

"Oh, yes, I understand, but I'll see to Smith. There's something more important on now. I've just got a wire from my agent in Washington."

"About my gun?" asked Marsh anxiously.

"About the Ribbenstein gun," came Pluckey's cold correction.

The head draughtsman nodded at quiescence.

"Just my luck!" he exclaimed in distress. "That's the end of my royalty. I might have known. It always happens that way with me. I never have any luck."

Pluckey stood looking, a sneering smile on his face.

"That's it," he said contemptuously. "Lay down. That's the reason you're always bad and always will be bad. A quitter can't have any luck. How do you expect to have anything if you drop at the first ditch?"

The inventor looked up, puzzled.

"What can I do?" he asked.

Pluckey knelt pitifully on him.

"What can you do? You can't go around enough to guess. Here—stop closer to the inventor to speak in a lower, firmer tone—this ditch is your last hope. The best of us in Washington, but with Smith drink I guess we're not the best of him here."

Marsh looked up, startled, amazed. Some slight bit of what Pluckey intended to do dawned on him.

"What do you mean?" he asked slowly in an almost dazed tone.

The general manager looked at him sharply.

"What time did you say Sommers would get here?"

"One-fifty," replied Marsh.

Pluckey's laugh was rich with content.

"Well, there's lots of time. It isn't 12 yet," he chuckled.

In Marsh's face had come an expression of horror. He knew now what the general manager intended to do. It made him sick to think of it. For Marsh was honest at heart. Only he was an inventor. He loved his work. It was his chance of a lifetime. And, then, he was weak.

"You mean you will ruin his gun?" he half whined.

The brutal laugh of the other man was answered.

"Blunt up," he sneered. "Don't talk as if it was murder. If you're going to get on in this world, Marsh, you must learn there's as much in blocking the other fellow's game as there is in playing your own."

His latent sense of honesty made one last sickening revolt as Marsh started up from his chair, exclaiming wildly:

"It's awful! I won't be a party to any such thing as that, Mr. Pluckey."

With all his superior physical and mental strength Pluckey seized the weaker man and pushed him back in his chair.

"Don't be a fool, Marsh," he explained, shaking his shoulder fiercely. "You know if we get this order from Washington it means an independent fortune for you. Don't you know that?"

The force of the other stronger personality reacted on the weaker man.

"Yes, sir, you say so," he said.

Pluckey went on more earnestly, driving his point home with all the power of his strong will.

"Think what it means, Marsh. It means the end of this slavery, day after day, at the works. It means you'll have time to work on your inventions. It's your one chance of a lifetime—your one chance, Marsh, to amount to something in this world—and be ended now, permanently—and you don't need to have anything to do with this stuff. I'll attend to it."

The little man looked up with the gaze of a helpless child.

"What—what do you intend to do?" he asked.

Pluckey smiled well satisfied.

"Do," he said. "Nothing I won't do anything. His look became shrewd, his lips unrolled as he ended, Smith will put that gun in the tempering bath before Sommers gets here."

The little man's eyes grew wide with fearful understanding.

But it was not a temperature and kill it," he gasped.

Pluckey laughed cruelly.

"Smith has changed of that. If he kills the gun we don't know anything about it," he said.

The little man shivered.

"This is terrible!"

THE SOISSON.

"The Lost Trail" Tonight. Those who last season failed to witness "The Lost Trail," the successful comedy drama of Western army life.

Frederic Thompson, Proprietor of Brewster's Millions will have the opportunity tonight at the Solsson Theatre. The play is an expressive of typical days in the West in other times and it is presented by a stronger company, than when first produced four seasons ago. There is a love story in "The Lost Trail" with an uncouth cowboy pitted against a smooth army officer and an Eastern girl picked as the prize. The cowboy has the advantage of being manly and honest; the army officer is handicapped by a polished villainy, while the girl has all the sweetness and charm requisite for a place in the best man's heart.

The scenery, costumes and lighting effects are elaborate, the company is a large one and all in all "The Lost Trail" is a play that can be commended to the most critical.

Cutcheon's fascinating story, "Brewster's Millions," with which to enter the dramatic world Mr. Thompson has found a vehicle worthy his endeavors and one which will sustain his reputation. Those who have read the book can appreciate it as a great play. The star part, that of Montgomery Brewster, is played by Robert Ober, one of the very best of the younger generation of American actors well and favorably known throughout the country. The support company includes Emily Lytton, Albert Sachet, Joseph Woodburn, Grace Arnold, W. S. Constantine, Ada May Talbot, Nestor Lennon, James H. Morrison and twenty others. Seat sale opens today at the theatre.

Prepare For Cold Weather

Winter is fast approaching. One of the most important parts of a man's or woman's winter clothing is Underwear, and the best place to buy it that we know of is at Union Supply Company stores. The Fall lines of Underwear for men, women and children are now all in. They have been purchased from the best manufacturers in America. The stocks of this class of goods taken out of our sixty-three stores and put in one pile would look almost as big as Pine Knob, would make a big double-header train. Buying it in such large quantities and paying cash for it naturally gives us a great advantage as to price. Our customers get the benefit of all this. We are selling Underwear in our stores cheaper and have a greater variety, we believe, than you can find elsewhere.

Connellsville People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache, headache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Connellsville people testify permanent cures. Mrs. Lawrence Francis, 411 Tenth street, Connellsville, Pa., says: "Both Mr. Francis and myself have used Doan's Kidney Pills with good results. I was cured of kidney complaint by his remedy and have not had a sign of the trouble since. Mr. Francis also uses this preparation whenever he has backache or any symptoms of kidney trouble and it never fails to give him prompt relief. We value Doan's Kidney Pills very highly."

TIGERS COME BACK STRONG.

Defeat Pittsburg in Fourth
Game of World's Series.

PITCHER MULLIN INVINCIBLE

Although Thermometer is Down to 34
Degrees, 17,000 Persons Witness
Contest—Pirates Make Six Errors,
But They Do Not Count.

Detroit, Oct. 13.—Detroit defeated Pittsburg 6 to 0 and evened up the count in the world's championship series, each now having two victories to its credit. The game was played with the mercury at 34 degrees above zero, but 17,000 persons braved the chilling temperature and freezing blasts and the great majority of them felt well repaid for their polar experiences because they were with Detroit.

The American league champions outclassed their rivals in every department of the game and the pitching of George Mullin will make one of the brightest bits in the baseball history of Detroit. It is hard to conceive of any pitcher having his opponents more at his mercy than Mullin had Pittsburg. There was never a moment when he was not the absolute master of the situation and he was at his best with men on the bases. Four hits represented the ability of the visitors and no two of these were made in the same inning.

Clarke and Wagner strike out. Mullin performed a feat in the third inning that will live long in the annals of baseball and was frozen on the minds of those who saw it. In the third inning he struck out the mighty Wagner with two out and men on second and third. That was a mighty feat, but just previously he had struck out Manager Clarke, a hard hitter, with men on first and second. A double steal on Clarke's third strike moved the men to second and third where they were when Wagner came to bat. Lelfield was also a victim on strikes in this same inning, giving Mullin three strikeouts in one season. All told, he struck out the visitors ten times.

Detroit scored because it was able to hit when hits spelled runs. Stanage, Jennings' young catcher, distinguished himself in the second inning by sending Detroit's first two runs across the plate with a drive just out of Mullin's reach. In the fourth inning Bush's rising double into the overflow crowd in the left field scored another run and it was immediately followed by another two-bagger into the same place by Ty Cobb.

Lelfield Driven From Mound. The onslaught by Detroit in the second and fourth innings drove Lelfield, Pittsburg's star left hander from the 'lab and he was succeeded by the veteran Phillippe, who was able to stem the Detroit tide, although they pressed him hard in the eighth inning. Eight hits were made by Detroit and six of those came in the two innings when the scores were made. The cold apparently affected the Pittsburg fielding far more than it did Detroit's, as the National league champions put up a miserable exhibition in that department. Six errors were charged to the infield—Abstein, Miller and Phillippe each getting two. The six errors detract little credit from Detroit's performance, as only one of them figured in the scoring.

The conclusive victory of Detroit has toppled Pittsburg from its proud position as the favorite in the betting and even money is now being offered as a more equitable indication of the relative merits of the two major league champions. The teams left for Pittsburg and the fifth game will be played at Forbes Field today. The scene will then shift back to this city, where the sixth game is scheduled for Thursday.

So thoroughly did Mullin do his work that there were only six balls hit to the outfield. Three of those were safe hits and the other three were divided, two flies to Crawford and one to Cobb.

Detroit broke Lelfield's defense in the first inning, when Cobb was hit by a pitched ball after two were out. Cobb moved to second when Abstein dropped Lelfield's throw that caught the Detroit star off first. Crawford ended the inning with a fly to Lelch.

The attendance was 17,036 and the receipts $21,103. The receipts are divided as follows: National commission, $2,110.30; players, $11,395.62; each club, $3,798.54. The totals for the four games—all in which the players will share—follow: National commission, $12,898.50; players, $66,924.90; each club, $22,808.30; grand total, $123,936. The winning players will receive $40,154.34 and the losers will be allowed to divide $36,783.98. The total attendance for the four games has been $6,941. Score:

South African Ostrich Feather Sale.

Absolutely the Best Values in Rich Ostrich
Plumes Ever Offered in Fayette County.

Anticipating the great demand for plumes we early placed an order with one of America's largest importers and have received a collection of the finest South African plumes at "first hand" prices. They would be good values as ordinarily priced but in order to turn them quickly we will offer them for one week (if they last that long) at from one-third to one-half less than is usually asked for plumes of equal value.

Sale Begins Wednesday, October 13, and continues One Week.

The finest Ostrich Plumes come from South Africa. They are plucked from wild, hardy, male birds, thus assuring greater wearing life than those from delicate tame birds reared in captivity.

Untrimmed Shapes.

In connection with this sale we bought and now have on hand a large and varied assortment of velvet, bengaline, moire and felt shapes—all up-to-the-minute styles. They will be specially priced for this sale at

$2.50

A Suggestion

This sale may help you solve your hat problem. An untrimmed shape, a plume or two and the crafty woman can with her own good taste and nimble fingers fashion for herself a stylish, attractive hat at small cost. You can figure it out for yourself.

An Extraordinary Assortment

This is the largest assortment of plumes ever shown in Fayette county, possibly in Southwestern Pennsylvania. Pittsburg excepted. It is not only large, but consists of the very finest black and white plumes and the most exquisite color effects. Large French curl heads with handsome glossy finish and genuine hand-tied willow plumes—long, silky and beautiful—for the fountain effect, all made of selected feathers with extra broad fibers. Ostrich plumes this season will be more in favor than ever before. The leading styles and shapes demand its use. You cannot afford to let pass this opportunity to select from such a fine assortment at practically half price.

Window Display

In our windows are interesting and instructive displays. Several ostrich eggs are in the collection; also feathers in their raw state and some fine specimens of French and willow plumes. It will be well worth your while to see them.

United Press Telegram.

Clear and cool weather greeted the Pittsburgh-Detroit athletes when they took the field to play the fifth game of the series for the world's championship this afternoon. The early crowd was not so large today as those of the first two days, and the wild enthusiasm that marked those games was lacking. The left and right field bleachers were not thrown open until 11 o'clock, and those in center field were barred, until a short time before the game started.

Much indignation was expressed by members of the National Commission over the report printed in a local paper which stated that there was something crooked about the series. It was charged in an indirect way that Manager Clark had not used his best pitchers and that two of them, Camnitz and Leifeld, were not in condition to do their best work.

"There is absolutely no foundation in the rumor that the games were fixed," said President Hermann of the National Commission. "The Commission would not stand for anything that looked suspicious for a minute. The players could have no object in prolonging the series, as they do not in any way share in the receipts of any except the first four games."

Managers Jennings of the Detroit club, and Clark of the Pittsburgh club were equally emphatic in denying the charges.

Detroit was again represented by a corps of some 1,200 leather-lunged rooters, who whooped things up without intermission.

Both Adams and Summers were unsteady in the opening session, but the former was more fortunate. D. Jones' homer gave Detroit its only run, while, with the bases filled, Summers walked Miller and forced a run. In this inning Crawford stole second on Gibson, making the third stolen base for the Tigers so far in the series.

The Tigers were easy in the second, Stange and Summers buzzing after T. Jones flew to Wilson. It was Wilson's first chance since the first.

Summers was not less steady in the second inning. After Gibson got a single on a sensational stop by Bush, and retired Byrne, Adams sacrificed being sandwiched, the Detroit pitcher heavily batted to the pan and Gibson walked home with time to spare.

Davy Jones could not repeat when he came up in the third. Tommy Leach camping under his long fly to the outfield. Bush whiffed, making Adams' fourth victim, while Cobb could not place one safely past Byrne. The Pirate rooters cheered lustily when the Georgian retired.

No side by going out at first. There was corresponding gloom along the third base line, where the Tiger rooters were stationed.

The hit and run was worked to perfection by Pittsburgh in the third after Clarke had walked. Bush got a high sign to cover second and Wagner hustled the ball through the opening.

The captain took third on the play and scampered home while Bush was doing away with Miller at first. There was no harm to Abstein for Wilson, who left Honus stranded at Moriarty's corner.

Adams had the Tigers on his wagon in the fourth. Delahanty struck blindly at the atmosphere and was fanned for a second time. Crawford and Moriarty neither had a chance to reach first. Miller made a great stop of Moriarty's drive.

Summers showed signs of settling down to business in the fourth inning. Gibson, Adams and Byrne were easy picking for the Tiger soldiers, and neither of these Pirates gave the opposition any difficulty retiring them before reaching first base in safety. The Pirate fans at this juncture refused to be discouraged over the failure to score, pinning their faith in Adams' ability as a slacker.

Tiger hopes were raised for an instant in the fifth when Tom Jones belted the ball for a pair of pillows, but these same hopes sank as rapidly when Adams mowed down Stange and Summers in succession, making it seven strikeouts. Clarke grabbed D. Jones' fly and the inning was over. At this juncture the Pirate fans were offering odds that Adams will beat Mullin's record of 10 strikeouts. They found mighty few takers.

The Pirates got a man to third in the fifth but could bring him no further around the circuit. After Leach had taken an aeroplane out to Davy Jones, Clarke took advantage of Summers' apparent weakness in fielding bunts and beat out his tap. He stole second and went to third on Wagner's out, dying there when Miller was tossed out at first.

The first chance the Tiger rooters had to exercise their vocal organs after the first inning came in the sixth, and they did it well. After Bush made the eighth strikeout for Babe Adams, Cobb belted a single between Wagner and Miller. His bluff was followed by a clout for two outsions by Wagner. Delahanty sent a sizzler to Wagner, who heaved it a mile high to Abstein. This let Crawford register on the rubber with the lining run. Moriarty and Tom Jones could not put the Tigers ahead by driving Delahanty home.

Pittsburg went out in order in its half of the sixth, Abstein, Wilson and Gibson being the victims. Tom Jones' race with Abstein to first was the only feature of the session.

Matty McIntyre butted for Stange in the seventh, but to no avail. He and Summers rolled down to Abstein, while Byrne picked Davy Jones at the initial corner.

Hughie Jennings made a tactical error in the seventh, while the Pirates did a number of things. After Byrne and Leach had singled, Clarke made the second homer of the series, scoring the two ahead of him. Then Summers belted Wagner in the back. The Carnegie Dutchman swiped second and third and scored when Schmidt threw into left field.

First Inning.
 Detroit--Tom Jones started the game by pounding the ball into the center field bleachers for a home run. The ball bounded into the stand and Jones stopped at third, but Umpire Johnston ordered him home. Leach jumped high in the air for the ball, but missed it by a foot. Bush was patient and walked. Adams was very wild, and the entire infield and Manager Clarke are trying to steady him. With three balls and two strikes Cobb sent a long fly to Leach. On the hit and run, play Crawford singled to left and Bush went to third. Adams fooled Delahanty into striking out. Crawford stole second. Moriarty ended the round with a weak pop to Abstein. One run, two hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Byrne shot a single to center for a starter. Leach bunted in front of the plate and beat it out. Clarke sacrificed, Stange to T. Jones. Byrne went to third and Leach to second. Wagner did not look good to Summers, and he was walked up. This filled the bases. Miller swung three times at nothing. Summers lost control and walked Adams, forcing in Byrne. Wilson fanned for the final out. One run, two hits, no errors.

Second Inning.
 Detroit--Wilson accepted his first chance of the series when he got under T. Jones' fly. Stange watched the third strike float over. Summers also fanned, making the third strike out so far for Adams. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Gibson pushed one to left of which Bush made a grand stop, but his throw was too light and the rap counted for a single. Adams sacrificed, Summers to T. Jones. Delahanty made a wonderful play on Byrne's smash to right and got his man at first by making a fast pickup. A wild pitch scored Gibson. Leach batted to Crawford. One run, one hit, no errors.

Third Inning.
 Detroit--Davy Jones flied to Leach. Bush was the fourth man to fann. Byrne was waiting for Cobb's roller and threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Clarke outgassed Summers and stroled to first. On the hit and run, Bush started to cover second, and Wagner shoved the ball through where he had been standing for a single. Clarke going to third. Miller's out, Bush to T. Jones, scored Clarke, and Wagner went to second. Abstein was out. Moriarty to T. Jones. Wagner going to third. Wilson ended the inning by grounding to Bush. One run, one hit, no errors.

Fourth Inning.
 Detroit--Crawford's roller was easy for Wagner and Abstein. Gibson fell flat going after Delahanty's foul and this gave Delahanty another chance. Delahanty fell a victim to Adams' fooler for the second time. He was the fifth Tiger to buzz. Miller made a pretty stop of Moriarty's smash past second and got him at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Moriarty made a sure play on Gibson's weak roller. Adams fouled out to Stange. Byrne sent up an easy fly which Davy Jones grabbed with out effort. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.
 Detroit--Tom Jones pushed the ball to left for a clean two bagger. Stange struck out for the second time, swinging hard at three fast ones. Summers was the seventh Tiger to strike out. Davy Jones' fly was easy for Clarke. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.
 Detroit--Bush was the eighth Tiger to beat the wind. Cobb belted a hit, sending a single between Byrne and Wagner. Crawford's double to left center scored Cobb. Wagner's wild throw of Delahanty's grounder scored Crawford with the tying run and Delahanty went to second. Moriarty flied to Abstein. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Pittsburg--Abstein flied to Bush. T. Jones grabbed Wilson's grounder and beat him in the race to first. Bush and T. Jones handled Gibson's grounder for the third. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.
 Detroit--McIntyre batted for Stange. Summers was out on a similar play. Byrne's great pickup and throw killed off Davy Jones. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Schmidt went in to catch for Detroit. Adams failed to connect and retired. Byrne singled to left. On the hit and run, Leach singled to left, putting Byrne on third. Clarke made a home run into the center field bleachers, scoring Byrne and Leach ahead of him. Thousands of Pittsburgh rooters in the stand arose as one and cheered vociferously. Summers hit Wagner in the back receiving a severe knock but after the injured spot had been given the first aid treatment, walked to first. Davy Jones was waiting for Miller's high fly. Wagner stole second. Wagner scored third, also, and scored on Schmidt's high throw to left. Schmidt's work in this inning was very erratic. Abstein fanned. Four runs, three hits, one error.

Eighth Inning.
 Detroit--Leach made a pretty catch of Bush's short fly. Adams made a pretty play on Cobb's punt and got him at first. Crawford sent a home run into the center field bleachers. Leach in running back can be heard that he knocked out a hard and fell into the bleachers. Leach had a marvelous escape from severe injury, but he resumed play again. This makes a single, a double and a home run so far for Crawford. Delahanty out, Byrne to Abstein. One run, one hit, no errors.

Pittsburg--Davy Jones lost Wilson's double in the sun. Wilson scored on Gibson's single to right. Summers was taken out of the box at this point. Willett went in to pitch. Adams popped to T. Jones. Gibson stole second. Schmidt throwing the ball to center field. Byrne struck out and Gibson was caught stealing third at the same time. Schmidt to Moriarty. Pretty double play. One run, two hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.
 Detroit--Moriarty popped a foul to Byrne. T. Jones put up a short fly which Wagner dropped. T. Jones stole second. Schmidt out. Wagner to Abstein. T. Jones went to third. Mullin batted for Willett. Mullin out to Wagner. No runs, no hits, one error.

Pittsburg--Unplayed.

Notes of Today's Game.
 The Tiger rooters let out a roar when D. Jones lifted the ball into the center field bleachers for a home run in the first.

Summers couldn't locate the plate in the first and forced in a run. The knuckle ball artist was wild as a March hare.

Pittsburg--Davy Jones shielded his eyes from the sun, and looked Leach's fly. Clarke hunted safely. Summers shows some weakness in going after bunts in his territory. Clarke stole second. Wagner's out. Bush to T. Jones, put Clarke on third. Miller rolled an easy one to Moriarty who pegged him out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.
 Detroit--Bush was the eighth Tiger to beat the wind. Cobb belted a hit, sending a single between Byrne and Wagner. Crawford's double to left center scored Cobb. Wagner's wild throw of Delahanty's grounder scored Crawford with the tying run and Delahanty went to second. Moriarty flied to Abstein. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Pittsburg--Abstein flied to Bush. T. Jones grabbed Wilson's grounder and beat him in the race to first. Bush and T. Jones handled Gibson's grounder for the third. No runs, no hits, no errors.

 Detroit--Bush was the eighth Tiger to beat the wind. Cobb belted a hit, sending a single between Byrne and Wagner. Crawford's double to left center scored Cobb. Wagner's wild throw of Delahanty's grounder scored Crawford with the tying run and Delahanty went to second. Moriarty flied to Abstein. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Pittsburg--Abstein flied to Bush. T. Jones grabbed Wilson's grounder and beat him in the race to first. Bush and T. Jones handled Gibson's grounder for the third. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Seventh Inning.
 Detroit--McIntyre batted for Stange. Summers was out on a similar play. Byrne's great pickup and throw killed off Davy Jones. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Pittsburg--Schmidt went in to catch for Detroit. Adams failed to connect and retired. Byrne singled to left. On the hit and run, Leach singled to left, putting Byrne on third. Clarke made a home run into the center field bleachers, scoring Byrne and Leach ahead of him. Thousands of Pittsburgh rooters in the stand arose as one and cheered vociferously. Summers hit Wagner in the back receiving a severe knock but after the injured spot had been given the first aid treatment, walked to first. Davy Jones was waiting for Miller's high fly. Wagner stole second. Wagner scored third, also, and scored on Schmidt's high throw to left. Schmidt's work in this inning was very erratic. Abstein fanned. Four runs, three hits, one error.

Eighth Inning.
 Detroit--Leach made a pretty catch of Bush's short fly. Adams made a pretty play on Cobb's punt and got him at first. Crawford sent a home run into the center field bleachers. Leach in running back can be heard that he knocked out a hard and fell into the bleachers. Leach had a marvelous escape from severe injury, but he resumed play again. This makes a single, a double and a home run so far for Crawford. Delahanty out, Byrne to Abstein. One run, one hit, no errors.

Pittsburg--Davy Jones lost Wilson's double in the sun. Wilson scored on Gibson's single to right. Summers was taken out of the box at this point. Willett went in to pitch. Adams popped to T. Jones. Gibson stole second. Schmidt throwing the ball to center field. Byrne struck out and Gibson was caught stealing third at the same time. Schmidt to Moriarty. Pretty double play. One run, two hits, no errors.

Ninth Inning.
 Detroit--Moriarty popped a foul to Byrne. T. Jones put up a short fly which Wagner dropped. T. Jones stole second. Schmidt out. Wagner to Abstein. T. Jones went to third. Mullin batted for Willett. Mullin out to Wagner. No runs, no hits, one error.

Pittsburg--Unplayed.

Notes of Today's Game.
 The Tiger rooters let out a roar when D. Jones lifted the ball into the center field bleachers for a home run in the first.

Summers couldn't locate the plate in the first and forced in a run. The knuckle ball artist was wild as a March hare.

Pittsburg--Davy Jones shielded his eyes from the sun, and looked Leach's fly. Clarke hunted safely. Summers shows some weakness in going after bunts in his territory. Clarke stole second. Wagner's out. Bush to T. Jones, put Clarke on third. Miller rolled an easy one to Moriarty who pegged him out at first. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Inning.
 Detroit--Bush was the eighth Tiger to beat the wind. Cobb belted a hit, sending a single between Byrne and Wagner. Crawford's double to left center scored Cobb. Wagner's wild throw of Delahanty's grounder scored Crawford with the tying run and Delahanty went to second. Moriarty flied to Abstein. Two runs, one hit, one error.

Babe to chalk up his second victory over the Tigers.

Stange was crestfallen when Jennings derelicted him for the Dutchman, Schmidt.

The scalpers got a rap today. Large blocks of seats bought up by them were not in such demand that fans would pay fancy prices.

Bedian broke loose when Clarke landed on the sphere for a home run in the seventh.

And to think it was only the second hit for Clarke in the present series. Two hits, and both for homers, is counting in luck.

One Tiger rooter hiked for the ties when Clarke's smash disappeared out of sight and the procession came marching home. The blow was too much.

Sumers' work was decidedly erratic throughout the game. He was directly responsible for the first three runs Pittsburg scored, his passes and wildness being fatal to Tiger chances.

Hans Wagner still has the best of Cobb in hitting. He also gets ahead of Bush, whose batting today was of the minus quantity.

Sam Crawford worked up today and landed two hits. That's as many as he made in the first four games.

DIED OF INJURIES AT THE HOSPITAL.

Miner Who Was Pinned Beneath Companion and Post Was Hurt Internally.

Gabriel Rodinka, the foreigner who was caught by a fall of slate in Clarissa mines on Monday afternoon, died last night of internal injuries at the Cottage hospital. Rodinka was badly squeezed. He was working with Andy Borza when the fall occurred. Borza was killed instantly and Rodinka was pinned under the mass of slate for three hours.

Rodinka was conscious after his removal from the mines and there were no bruises about his body. It was at first thought that his injuries were only slight and that he would be able to return to work in a few days. He was 40 years old and leaves a wife and four children. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning.

Hoboes Had Money to Buy Booze But None to Pay for Use of Soap.

After a long chase over the coke ovens this morning, Officers John A. Lowe and P. M. Ruhl arrested two hoboes whom they were after for making threats against William Moore, a negro. The officers were also looking for a negro who is alleged to have chased Moore with a knife into the machine shop at Davidson works.

Moore came to town after the officers, who responded promptly. The missing negro saw them coming and skipped, but the two hoboes did not get so good a start. After a chase covering more than a mile the officers landed their men. One of the tramps is tall and slim; the other slim and short, both having the appearance of the typical hobo of the comic supplement. They will get a hearing this evening and information will likely be made against them.

The missing negro started the trouble when Moore asked to be paid for a cake of soap he let him use. Moore says they had money enough to buy whisky, so could afford to pay a poor man for soap. The shortest of the two tramps is said to be a bad character. He carries several bullet wounds around on different parts of his anatomy.

THE TABLES TURNED ON STREET BARKER

Didn't Live Up to His Agreement, Causes Foreigner's Arrest and is Himself Fined.

The tables were turned on William Moran, a burker from McKeesport, in police court today, when he was arrested and fined after preferring charges which cost Nick Alfere $3.50. Moran ran a stand along Pittsburgh street yesterday, offering prizes to the ones who could throw baseballs into a barrel.

Alfere tossed three but missed. Then he wanted the same three balls back, but his request was denied. An argument ensued. Alfere refusing to pay for the first throw he had, Officer John A. Lowe appeared on the scene and arrested him.

At the hearing this morning it was brought out that Moran had, on one occasion, promised to give a dollar to the man who tossed all three balls into the barrel. The man performed the feat and got 50 cents. Trouble followed but no arrests were made. After hearing the story this morning Burgess Evans fined Alfere $3.50 and that officer charged against Moran. He paid the same sum and was advised to stay away from Connelville during the next celebration.

THE WEST PENN SUEED FOR BIG DAMAGES

Clifford C. Bitner Wants $50,000 for the Loss of Both His Legs. Other Court News.

UNIONTOWN, Oct. 13.—Clifford C. Bitner, a former motorman for the West Penn Railways Company, has brought suit against the said company to recover damages for injuries received in a wreck on said road in October, 1907, at Freda station, in which his legs and body were cut and badly bruised, both legs having to be amputated. He asks $50,000 damages from the defendant company. The statement was filed.

Lazlo Dolak thinks Annie Matty should pay her $1,000 for calling her hard names on October 3, 1909, at Bearlights, and brings suit to recover that amount. Her statement was filed Tuesday afternoon.

In the matter of the petition of the citizens of North Union township asking for a public road to be laid out on the public road leading from Uniontown to Connelville at a point near Kerr street and intersecting the said road at a point some 500 feet farther out, the court appointed W. S. McClay, J. W. Beatty and Thomas L. Howard viewers to investigate the matter and report their conclusion to the court.

In the application of Joseph Solomon of New Salem, for an injunction against Charles Bryan, of the same place, to restrain the defendant from going into business in New Salem during the continuance of the lease between the parties concerned, the bill for an injunction was presented and a bill of complaint filed.

ARE YOU GETTING AHEAD?

Do These Prosperous Times Mean Anything to You?

There is a time in almost every man's life when he must decide whether he is ever going to be worth anything or whether he will just live from hand to mouth all his days. You are probably not taking full advantage of the prevailing prosperity in all lines, unless you are saving something. It's a good time to decide that you will lift yourself out of a rut—that you will save something and be ready for an opportunity to better yourself. A savings account in the First National Bank of Connelville, where you can deposit small sums from time to time and receive 4 per cent interest on all your savings, is a great help. You can begin anytime with $1 or more.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCT. 13, 1909.

A DEMOCRATIC ORGAN'S VAGUE VIEWS OF PROTECTION.

The Conneltsville News taking its cue from the Johnstown Democrat dips into the deep waters of the tariff question and attempts in its weak and feeble way to show that we have been inconsistent in this matter since the Democratic party turned aside from the broad highway of sane statesmanship and lost itself in the tangled maze of Bryanism and Populism, leaving a great army of its former members trucking along the Pike where they are not long in overtaking the Republican party with whom they have since been travelling to their mutual satisfaction.

The Official Organ indicates that we have a "channel-on-like hide." That's a good word, but it doesn't fit The Courier. It is more suitable to those Democrats who for the sake of remaining Democratic in name have changed every political principle they ever knew, whose political hides reflect our Bryan coats every campaign, whose political intelligence does not rise high enough to think for itself and whose political status is fixed by the "Thinking Theorist" of Nebraska. The Courier has been consistent and independent and for the people best calculated to make the whole people prosperous and happy.

The Official Organ echoes the indignation of its able contemporary that our opposition to the West Virginia proposition to tax natural gas is a Republican tariff heresy and a return to Democratic Free Trade. We are also accused of growing about the print paper tariff designed to "protect" the American print paper business, and thereby betraying our inconsistency in the matter of protection to home industries.

In reply to the first indictment, we will say that The Courier never was a Free Trade paper, but that it was always an advocate of Protection, and that in this position it had the company of many distinguished Democrats of Pennsylvania. Upon this economic question we stand just where we have always stood. We have always advocated a protective tariff, and have demanded both Democratic and Republican demands for tariff revision when such a revision seemed necessary in the interests of justice, but never have we demanded Free Trade or stood for Monopoly.

It is true that we and most other newspapers men, including Editor North and Editor Bailey, thought the duty on print paper was unnecessary and demanded its abolition, and we all think so yet. It is a large question which we will not here and now undertake to enter upon at length, but it is sufficient to say that a special Congressional committee, composed largely of Republicans and Protectionists, which investigated paper trade conditions in a most searching manner, reported that the duty on print paper should be removed because the paper industry did not need any such protection.

The duty on print paper was not removed, but it was very materially cut down.

Many other reductions and adjustments were made that perhaps do not meet the approval of the consuming interest; but, "One swallow does not make a summer," nor do one or more defects in a tariff bill justify opposition to it within the ranks of the party which framed it. It follows in a general way the policy of the party and reflects its pledges. In short, whatever mistakes the Republican Congress may have made in revising the tariff, it did not depart from the Republican policy of Protection.

That policy has been the chief means of developing our natural resources, piling up our wealth, increasing our population and making us within the short span of a century the greatest nation in the world. Less than two hundred years ago this nation was a wilderness inhabited by savages. Look at it now, and consider well the fact that its greatest growth has been under the Republican policy of Protection.

For the same reason that we believe in and advocate Protection as a national policy, we believe in and advocate Free Trade as between the States. Protection to our manufacturers against foreign competition reflects the profits of home industry upon the whole country, regardless of divisional lines, but if one State were permitted to levy taxes against another commerce would languish and industrial development shrivel up. The framers of the Constitution foresaw all these things clearly when they took out of the hands of the States the right to levy such duties and gave to the Federal Government the power to regulate interstate commerce.

Editor North and Editor Bailey and Editor Bryan have queer theories about the tariff question and some other questions, but the Republican doctrine of Protection is built upon the Rock of Experience, and the People may be forgiven for preferring to stand upon the Rock rather than to wander around among the bogs with a band of modern political Nebuchadnezzars eating the grass and hush and cranberries of defeat and discredit.

THE HOUSE OF LORDS AND THE SENATE.

The English House of Lords is reported to be in danger of abolition. There is no special reason for its existence. It represents nothing but special privilege and an unwholesome commingling of Church and State. It is not analogous to the American Senate in anything save its function as a check upon hasty and ill-considered legislation. The vital difference between the two august bodies lies in the fact that the House of Lords is appointed by the Sovereign, while the American Senate is chosen by the direct representatives of the Sovereign People.

The American Senate, it is true, has been charged with being a "Millionaires' Club," representing exclusively Trusts and Monopolies, and it must be confessed that there have been and are members of the Senate who undoubtedly do represent more or less those interests, but they are by no means a majority of the body, and they are in office only through the sanction of the people, who have a habit of waking up every now and then when their public servants get too noisy and too naughty.

The American Senate is still safe and sane and capable of serving the excellent purpose which the Fathers of the Constitution designed it to serve; and those wise old patriots no doubt laid its foundations deeply and solidly and securely so that they might not be uprooted by any sudden gust of public passion.

Chairman Johns hears that some Republicans in Fayette county are "in different to the whole or a part of the Republican ticket." There has been a great deal of contention in times past as to who were the real, atom-pure, unadulterated Republicans of Fayette county, it is worthy to be leaders and supporters of the cause of the Republic. It will develop some interesting evidence on this point, but we hope not. The Republicans have a good ticket. They should support it with impartiality and unanimity, and we trust they will; but if any depart from this duty in any particular way they should be held personally responsible for their defection. Let every tub stand upon its own bottom.

The Sutcliffe tragedy is full of romance and tragedy and mystery.

"Carrying coals to New Castle," is an ancient English joke which would ordinarily be paralleled by carrying coal to the Conneltsville coke region, yet the practice is not uncommon of carrying foreign coals to this region to be coaled for the purpose of testing their quality. It may be added that the results are always measured by the Conneltsville standard, and that the Conneltsville coke still remains the best furnace fuel in the world.

We lead; others follow. Watch 'em trailing along behind and pretending that they can't see anybody in front.

Out in Colorado the plaintiff is permitted to see into court and demand "body judgment." We presume this means that the complainant desires permission to "take it out of the hide" of the defendant.

Columbus went up in a blaze of glory last night.

It was a cold day but Conneltsville had a hot time.

There is no good reason why the representatives of the law should differ in their methods at any time, no matter whether they be specially detailed to represent a particular interest, or not; but if they do, the presumption must be on the side of the representative of that branch of justice which has no special interests to serve.

And the same day it snowed.

The Johnstown Democrat says Westmoreland county's Democratic decadence is due to Guffeyism. Observant persons are of the opinion that it is due to Bryanism.

Conneltsville has the Ventilation lights and the gondolas, but the gondolas haven't arrived yet. They are reported to be at the foot of navigation down around McKeesport. Dam the Tough!

The Campaign Facts of an Official Organ are usually as highly colored as the Ventilation lights.

If Columbus came to Conneltsville he would undoubtedly exclaim, "Dam the Tough!"

COLUMBUS DAY AT SCOTSDALE.

Seventy Couples Attend Banquet at Temperance Hall Last Night.

CLOWING ADDRESSES MADE

Hallowe'en Celebration Now Under Way, and Another Meeting Scheduled—Fans Go To Pittsburgh—Prominent Woman Is Injured.

SCOTSDALE, Oct. 12.—There were 70 couples at the reception and banquet given by the Scottish Council, No. 1127, Knights of Columbus, at Temperance Hall last night, in honor of the one whose name the order bears. Fitting to the occasion, since it was a woman's interest that made it possible for Columbus to make his voyage of discovery, there were many women present. The decorations of the hall were stars and stripes and between them the emblems of the order. Kléck's orchestra played during the banquet and for the dance that followed. Charming solos were sung by Miss Mary Yanner and J. Alexander Yanner of Scottdale and Miss Mary Ida McGee of Mt. Pleasant and there were guests present from Conneltsville, Uniontown, Jeannette, Greensburg, Mt. Pleasant and other nearby towns.

Austin King was toastmaster, and toasts were responded to by several. "The Duties of the Lady in the Church" was the subject of the response by the Very Rev. St. A. Lambie, pastor of St. John's, in which he depicted the duties of the lady. "Our Order" was the subject upon which Robert I. Ryan made a brilliant address. He told of the one who did so much for the world in general, and this country in particular, who arose above the petty murrings of the ignorant with the courage of his convictions to accomplish his great mission, whose every action was a sacrifice to the welfare of mankind, bearing as it did the impress of charity for all, and who as a crowning feature of a life of humanity went down to the grave almost unremembered and unnamed, unconscious of the great work that he had done for mankind. It was the consciousness of this apparent ingratitude that was the primary cause for the founding of this order of the Knights of Columbus. "Religion and Citizenship," was the topic discussed by Rev. G. M. Donnell of Mt. Pleasant, who spoke of the duty of the citizen in this land to carry out the principles of virtue of its discoverer and preserve this as a country of freedom.

"Our Holiday" was the sentiment responded to by Attorney James R. D. Gray National delegate, of Uniontown, who among other things congratulated the order upon its influence in passing the bill which set the day apart as one in which to honor the name of the discoverer.

The committee having the event in charge was composed of R. M. Evans, James Byrge, Stephen Arkwright, John Meneer, James McKee and W. St. Donley.

Hallowe'en Meeting. Hallowe'en was taken care of in an initial way for this year by a meeting held at the Borough building last night when a start was made toward the celebration of the night. Warner Burgess, William Ferguson, under whose administration the celebration of the night was inaugurated here, was elected chairman of the Arrangement Committee, and George B. Shupe was named as the Secretary. There will be another meeting on Friday evening to which the public is cordially invited.

TRESPASSING

On the Railroad Cause of Great Loss of Life.

Trespassing on railroad property, in violation of the law, has been responsible for the deaths of 17,116 people in the United States in the last 10 years. In the same period, more than 50,000 trespassers were injured. It is in view of these facts that many of the important railroads have determined to redouble their efforts to secure in this country that rigid enforcement of the law against trespassing which, in England, has reduced the practice—and accidents to trespassers—to a minimum.

The number of people killed while trespassing on railroads has been increasing every year. In 1898, 1,683 trespassers lost their lives on American railroads; five years later the number was 5,000, and in 1907, the number killed was 6,912—more than 15 a day. These figures are taken from the annual reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission. "Figures compiled by the Pennsylvania railroad alone show that 465 trespassers lost their lives on that system's lines in 1899, 781 were killed in 1904, while in 1907 the number reached 916—an average of almost three for every business day in the year. In the 10 years prior to January 1, 1909, exactly 7,240 people who were on the Pennsylvania's right of way in violation of the law, and in spite of thousands of warnings along the railroad, were killed. In addition during the first six months of this year 287 trespassers were killed.

It is not only tramps who are killed and injured while trespassing—though thousands of them lose their lives in this way every year—but also men of the laboring class, factory workmen, their wives and children

DR. COOK IS NOT WORRIED.

Peary's Charges Are Only What He Expected.

ESKIMOS KEPT THEIR PLEDGE

When Shown the Statement Prepared by Commander Peary Brooklyn Explorer Says It Is Same Old Story. Will Bring Back Eskimos.

Cleveland, Oct. 13.—"It is the same old story," said Dr. Cook when he was shown a statement and map issued by Peary purporting to prove, by what Eskimos had told him, that the Brooklyn man had not got near the north pole.

"I have replied to the points raised a dozen times," he continued. "The map published by Commander Peary in their indicates that the Eskimos have respected their promise made to me that they would not give any information to Peary or his men."

"The Eskimos were instructed not to tell Mr. Peary or any of his party of our trip over the polar sea. They were told to say we had been far north. They have kept their word."

"Mr. Whitney has said that during the cross-examination conducted by Commander Peary and others of his expedition the Eskimos did not understand the questions put to them or the map which was laid before them. Their replies to the questions put have been twisted to suit a perverted interest."

"I will not enter into any argument about the matter, but I will bring the Eskimos to New York at my own expense and they will prove, as did Mr. Whitney, all that I have claimed."

Dr. Cook would not consent to go over the details contained in Mr. Peary's statement any further than this.

"The Eskimos," he said, "are only too willing to say anything that they think will please their questioners."

The explorer was not at all perturbed by the accusations. A content smile flickered over his bronzed face when they were shown to him and told him everything. He speaks the Eskimo language for he is a semi-Eskimo himself and he has the most complete confidence in him.

The doctor continued: "Rasmussen, who will be here shortly, has seen the Eskimos and knows the real story. They did not try to deceive him. He will be with them for fourteen days. They know him and told him everything. He speaks the Eskimo language for he is a semi-Eskimo himself and he has the most complete confidence in him."

STATEMENT MADE PUBLIC

Testimony of Eskimo Boys Used to Disprove Cook's Claims.

New York, Oct. 13.—The statement of Commander Robert E. Peary, which he submitted to the Peary Arctic club in support of his contention that Dr. Cook did not reach the north pole, has been made public. The statement has been copyrighted by the Peary Arctic club.

The statement is preceded by a brief introduction by Commander Peary as follows:

"Some of my reasons for saying that Dr. Cook did not go to the north pole will be understood by the statements of the two Eskimo boys who went with him and who told me and others of his party where he did go. Several Eskimos who started with Dr. Cook from Anaktok in February, 1908, were at Etah when I arrived there in August, 1908. They told me that Dr. Cook had with him, after they left, two Eskimo boys or young men, two sledges and some twenty dogs. The boys were Iook-shoo and Ah-pel-ah. I had known them from their childhood. One was about eighteen and the other about nineteen years of age."

"On my return from Cape Sheridan and at the very first settlement I touched (Neke, near Cape Chalon) in August, 1909, and nine days before reaching Etah, the Eskimos told me, in a general way, where Dr. Cook had been; that he had wintered in Jones sound and that he had told the white men at Etah that he had been a long way north, but that the boys who were with him, Iook-shoo and Ah-pel-ah, said that this was not so. The Eskimos laughed at Dr. Cook's story."

CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

Candidate for Attorney General of Virginia Indicted for Felony.

Hanftington, W. Va., Oct. 13.—Judge Samuel Williams, candidate for attorney general of Virginia, was indicted at Welch, McDowell county, on a felony charge for an assault made on Judge L. M. Saunders, ex-president of the supreme court of West Virginia. Several weeks ago, during a trial at Welch, a dispute arose between the two jurists and it is said to have terminated by Judge Williams hurling a heavy inkstand at Judge Saunders. An only wound on the head compelled the latter to remain in the hospital a week.

All is not false which at first seems a lie.—Montbav.

This is the map submitted by Robert E. Peary to the Peary Arctic Club with his statement by which he seeks to prove that Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who is now being acclaimed as the discoverer of the North Pole, never ventured out upon the open polar sea. The map purports to have been traced out by aid of the two Eskimos who were with Dr. Cook and is based upon what Commander Peary declares they told him concerning their journey with Cook. The black lines in both the large map and the small one in the upper left hand corner give Cook's route, according to Peary. The dotted lines in the small map show the route that Dr. Cook declares he followed to and from the pole after leaving Cape Thomas Hubbard. The irregular line in the large map running northeast from Sarsset Lund is the edge of the land ice and is, according to Peary, the furthest north that Cook and his party penetrated.

CRANE DISMISSED.

Deposed Diplomat Feels That He Has Been Unfairly Treated.

Washington, Oct. 13.—Charles R. Crane of Chicago, minister designate to China, has been practically deposed by a demand from Secretary Knox for his resignation.

This a new chapter in American diplomacy was written. A citizen chosen with special regard for his qualifications for the post was recalled before he had embarked from San Francisco and discharged from his high office because of alleged indiscreet disclosures through the press. Moreover, this minister, breaking through all the old traditions, insisted on defending himself from the aspersions cast upon him by the secretary of state by the issuance of a statement which most people here comment upon as certain to be very embarrassing to the administration.

This extraordinary affair reached at least its first crisis when the secretary in a formal statement announced that Mr. Crane's resignation had been invited and the minister designate replied in an equally formal statement that while his resignation already had been tendered to the president he felt himself very unjustly treated. Moreover, Mr. Crane in his statement reflected very severely upon the officials of the state department, charging that not only had they refused from giving him the instructions usually issued to a minister or ambassador about to leave for his post, but that he had been denied access to them even after he had made repeated appointments with them.

He enters a sweeping denial of the charge that he "gave out" a newspaper story which is said to be the cause of his deposition, and places squarely upon the shoulders of the president the responsibility for the various utterances he has made regarding conditions in the far east.

VETERANS REUNION

IN SOMERSET COUNTY

Members of the 133rd Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, Have Their Annual Gathering.

Special In The Courier.

SOMERSET, Pa., Oct. 13.—On Tuesday, Columbus Day, the Veterans Association of the 133rd Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, held their annual reunion in Somerset. This was a gala day in Somerset and crowds of people were in town. A large number of veterans were present.

At 10 o'clock a parade formed at the court house and marched through several of the principal streets. In this parade were a drum corps, the veterans of the 133rd Regiment, veterans of the Spanish-American war, Sons of Veterans, the local fire department and a delegation from the local lodge of Odd Fellows. Norman T. Boone, 79th, delivered an address after the procession had returned to the starting point. Col. Charles J. Harrison was marshal. In the afternoon the veterans gathered in the assembly room of the court house where the camp fire was held. Burgess Frank M. Forney delivered the address of welcome and the business meeting was held. Magistrate "Lucky" J. F. Piel played several selections on the band organ. Mr. Piel is an expert performer on this musical instrument and his recitals always prove to be a great attraction. Everyone voted the reunion a success.

DYSPEPSIA, GAS, HEARTBURN AND ALL STOMACH DISTRESS VANISHES.

A Little Diapopsin Makes Your Out-of-Order Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from indigestion, dyspepsia or out-of-order stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapopsin.

If your stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a reinforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak stomachs should take a little Diapopsin occasionally, and there will be no more indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, sour risings, gas on stomach or belching of undigested food, headaches, dizziness or sick stomach, and besides what you eat will not ferment and poison your system with noxious odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved five minutes after taking a little Diapopsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pappe's Diapopsin now, and you will always get to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

What more proof can any one ask?

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

CHILD COVERED WITH HIVES

Tormented Two Months—It Itched and Irritated and Scratching Made It Worse—Little Sufferer in Terrible Plight—Several Treatments of No Avail—But at Last the

DREADFUL DISEASE IS CURED BY CUTICURA

"My six year old daughter had the dreadful disease called hives for two months. She became tormented by playing with children who had it, although we did not know it. By scratching she caused large sores which were irritating. Her body was a complete sore but it was worse on her arms and back. We employed a physician who gave medicine but it did not help her and I tried several remedies but without avail. Seeing the Cuticura Remedies advertised, I bought I would try them. I gave her a hot bath daily with Cuticura Soap and anointed her body with Cuticura Ointment. The first treatment relieved the itching and in a short time the disease disappeared. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies for all skin diseases and give them my greatest praise. Mrs. Geo. L. Fridhof, R. F. D. 1, Warren, Mich., June 30 and July 15, 1908."

Boy's Back Raw

From Shoulder to Shoulder. Scratched till Blood Ran. Cured by Cuticura.

"My son's back was raw from shoulder to shoulder and the width of your hand. I really did not think he ever would be cured. He would scratch until the blood would run and he was like a raw piece of meat. I used different kinds of things but each kind made it worse until I used the Cuticura Remedies, and one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment cured him like magic. I would not be without it in the house and I have recommended it to all my friends. Mrs. J. D. Maxwell, 8th St., Woodside, Long Beach, Cal., May 21, 1908."

HUNDREDS HOMELESS

Victims of Hurricane Hungry and Without Shelter.

Key West, Fla., Oct. 13.—Hundreds of homeless are still roaming the streets, hungry and with little prospect of shelter as a result of the storm. Fortunately the weather is warm and there is little physical suffering.

The war department has instructed the commandant of the coast artillery companies stationed here to aid the city authorities in every way possible and tents and bedding will be distributed by the soldiers. No estimate can be given of the financial loss, but it is believed it will be between two and three million dollars. The reported loss of 800 lives along the east coast is believed to be unfounded.

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Red Banks, Miss.—"Words are inadequate to express what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered from a female disease and weakness which the doctors said was caused by a fibroid tumor, and I commenced to think there was no help for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me a well woman after all other means had failed. My friends are all asking what has helped me so much, and gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Willie Edwards.

Hampstead, Maryland—"Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was weak and nervous, and could not be on my feet half a day without suffering. The doctors told me I never would be well without an operation, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors, and I hope this valuable medicine may come into the hands of many more suffering women."—Mrs. Joseph H. Dandy.

The strength of the bleeding man was gone fast, but grim determination to do the right thing kept him up. "Find out where he is and get him," he commanded.

The girl turned back to the phone, and her voice brightened as she recognized the person at the other end of the wire.

"Oh, is that you, Miss Frances?" she cried. "This is Lucy Smith. Yes, I'm at the works. There's been trouble here, and Mr. Sommers must come right away. There's something wrong with the Sommers gun. What? You say come up to your house?"

She looked away from the phone a moment placidly toward her injured sweetheart, then turned back to the receiver in response to Frances' urgent, sharp, anxious command.

"Yes, ma'am. O'Leary made me phone. I want to warn Mr. Sommers. There's trouble at the works. No, ma'am. It ain't sure. We suspect."

Again she hesitated, looking pitifully at her own wounded lover. How could she leave him merely to save the lover of the other woman? But discipline is strong about a steel works, and Frances Durant was the daughter of the owner. So poor little Lucy had no alternative but to obey.

"Yes, ma'am. She shouted into the receiver. 'I'll come if you wish. I'll get there in five minutes. I'll run. Yes, ma'am. I'll run. Goodbye.'"

She hung up the receiver, then hurried over to O'Leary. He took her forward in his chair and rested her partly on the desk before it. The girl put her arms about him.

"Oh, I can't leave you if you are hurt, but, dear, she half sobbed.

With all the strength he could command O'Leary caught her arm. "No, don't trouble about me. Hurry over and do what Miss Frances tells you and don't let any one else."

Still the girl hesitated, but just then Marsh entered the office from the works.

"Marsh will take care of me," gasped O'Leary. "Hurry! Do as I told you."

Reluctantly Lucy ran out of the office as the head draughtsman came over to the injured man.

"What's happened, O'Leary?" The assistant foreman was almost too weak from the shock and loss of blood to reply, but he managed to gasp out faintly:

"Smith cracked me with a hammer when I wasn't looking. He's fighting O'Leary, Marsh, and ruining the Sommers gun."

Marsh experienced about the works, was examining O'Leary's wounded head, with almost professional skill.

"You've got a bad rap, boy. We don't rush you to the doctor."

He stepped to the door leading into the works and yelled for two men, then came back to do what he could.

Pluckey had almost at the same moment returned from his private office.

"What's this?" he exclaimed as he saw the bloody O'Leary half lying across an office table.

The workman, injured though he was, still held to his grim determination to get justice for Sommers. At Pluckey's question he half raised himself on the table.

"It's Smith, sir," he said to the general manager. "He's leaving that gun too long in the furnace. I kicked, and he hit me when my back was turned. I'll fix him."

Pluckey looked at the bloody man coldly.

"You ought to have more sense than to kick," he said. "Smith's in charge of that job. He's responsible. It's none of your business. You ought to have kept your head shut."

O'Leary stared at the manager, too amazed to retort. He was still half dazed from the terrific blow he had received or big suspicions would have been immediately aroused. The two men had entered from the works and stood ready. They knew just what to do.

"Here," ordered Pluckey, "take this fellow across to the doctor quick. Tell him it's a work case."

The two men seized O'Leary, picked him up in their arms and hurried with him out of the office.

Marsh turned to the general manager.

"We've got to stop this, Mr. Pluckey," he exclaimed. "Smith is fighting drunk."

Pluckey nodded carelessly.

"Just my luck," he exclaimed, in his dress. "That's the end of my royalty I might have known. It always happens that way with me. I never have any luck."

Pluckey stood looking, a sneering smile on his face.

"That's it," he said contemptuously. "Lay down. That's the reason you kick is always lost and always will be. A quitter can't have any luck. How do you expect to have anything if you drop at the first ditch?"

The inventor looked up, puzzled.

"What can I do?" he asked.

Pluckey smiled pityingly on him.

"What can you do? Haven't you sense enough to guess? Here—he stepped closer to the inventor to speak in a lower, firmer tone—"this dirty trickery suitor has got the best of us in Washington, but with Smith drunk I guess we've got the best of him here!"

Marsh looked up, startled, amazed. Some slight hint of what Pluckey intended began to dawn on him.

"What do you mean?" he asked, slowly in an almost dazed tone.

The general manager looked at him sharply.

"What time did you say Sommers would get here?"

"One thirty," replied Marsh.

Pluckey's laugh was rich with confident relief.

"Well, there's lots of time. It isn't 12 yet," he chuckled.

On Marsh's face had come an expression of horror. He knew now what the general manager intended to do. It made him sick to think of it, for Marsh was honest at heart. Only he was an inventor. He loved his work.

It was his chance of a lifetime. And, then, he saw weak.

"You mean you will ruin his gun?" he half whispered.

The brutal laugh of the other man was answer enough.

"Shut up!" he sneered. "Don't talk as if it was murder. If you're going to get on in this world, Marsh, you must learn there's as much in blocking the other fellow's game as there is in playing your own."

His latest scheme of honesty made one last sickening revolt as Marsh started up from his chair, exclaiming wildly:

"It's awful! I won't be a party to any such thing as that, Mr. Pluckey."

With all his superior physical and mental strength Pluckey seized the weaker man and pushed him back to his chair.

"Don't be a fool, Marsh," he explained, shaking his shoulder fiercely. "You know if we get this order from Washington it means an independent fortune for you. Don't you know that?"

The force of the other stronger personality reeled on the weaker man.

"Yes, sir; you say so," he said.

Pluckey went on more earnestly, driving his points home with all the power of his strong will.

"Think what it means, Marsh. It means the end of this slavery, day after day, at the works. It means you'll have time to work on your inventions. It's your one chance of a lifetime—your one chance, Marsh, to amount to something in this world and—he ended most persuasively—"and you don't need to have anything to do with this affair. I'll attend to it."

The little man looked up with the gaze of a helpless child.

"What—what do you intend to do?" he asked.

Pluckey smiled, well satisfied.

"Nothing," he said. "Nothing. I won't do anything. His look became shrewdly, terribly malevolent as he ended, 'Smith will put that gun in the tempering bath before Sommers gets here.'"

Coming Attractions at the Theatres.

THE COLONIAL.

"The Road to Yesterday," which comes to the Colonial Theatre for a period of one night, next Friday, October 15, will doubtless be remembered by the play-going public of this city as Sam S. and Leo Shuberts New York Herald Square Theatre success.

This is the attraction's first trip here and will surely receive the welcome it has enjoyed since the commencement of the tour, early in August. Miss Minnie Dupree attained the crowning point of her histrionic career in this "dream play" which is the combined efforts of Benlab Div and Evelyn Greenleaf-Southard.

work around this place."

Smith, drunk though he was, recognized that now Pluckey was not the man to fool with.

"It's going in in fifteen minutes," he said.

"Let no one interfere with you, you understand?" ordered the general manager.

The drunken foreman leered at him.

"You saw what that fellow got that did interfere, didn't you? Well, they'll all get that if they fool with Smith."

Pluckey nodded acquiescence.

"You're responsible. Remember, fifteen minutes, there's all."

"I know my business," retorted the foreman. "I'll do the job" and he lurched for the door as fast as he could go.

Pluckey looked after him, with a laugh.

"Well, when that fresh navy duck arrives he will find his gun in a thousand guilions of oil. I guess I fixed him all right."

He was turning away when the street door opened, and Sommers, cool and collected as ever, lounged in.

"Hello, Mr. Pluckey."

He smiled at Pluckey's startled look. "Guess I'm a bit early. Didn't expect me so soon, did you? I'll just hang around here till my gun is taken out of the fire."

A WARNING.

Since its introduction into the United States, the sales of Parisian Sage have been phenomenal. This success has led to many imitations, similar in name. Look out for them, they are not the genuine. See that the girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. You can always get the genuine at A. A. Clarke's drug store.

Parisian Sage is the quickest acting and most efficient hair tonic in the world.

It is made to conform to Dr. Saug-bond's (of Paris) proven theory that dandruff, itching hair, baldness and scalp itch are caused by germs and scalp itch are caused by germs and scalp itch are caused by germs.

Parisian Sage kills these dandruff germs and removes all trace of dandruff in two weeks. It stops falling hair and keeps scalp and prevents baldness.

And remember that baldness is caused by dandruff germs, those little hard working, persistent devils that day and night do nothing but dig into the roots of the hair and destroy its vitality.

Parisian Sage is a dandruff perfume hair dressing, not sticky or greasy, and any woman who desires luxuriant and bewitching hair can get it in two weeks by using it.

Beware of imitations. Look for the girl with the Auburn hair on every package. Parisian Sage is now sold by leading druggists all over America and is guaranteed by A. A. Clarke to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back. Fifty cents a large bottle. Made in America by Givora Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y., who fill mail orders, all charges prepaid.

Negro Barber Shoots Wife.

Staubsville, O., Oct. 13.—Jealous over imagined attentions of other men to his wife, John Nicholson, a negro barber, is alleged to have shot her and she is said to be dying at the hospital. When Nicholson went home to supper and was met by his wife, he is said to have remarked, "You're no good," at the same time shooting her in the face. Nicholson later was arrested at his shop.

Prepare For Cold Weather

Winter is fast approaching. One of the most important parts of a man's or woman's winter clothing is Underwear, and the best place to buy it that we know of is at Union Supply Company stores. The Fall lines of Underwear for men, women and children are now all in. They have been purchased from the best manufacturers in America. The stocks of this class of goods taken out of our sixty-three stores and put in one pile would look almost as big as Pine Knob, would make a big double-header train. Buying it in such large quantities and paying cash for it naturally gives us a great advantage as to price. Our customers get the benefit of all this. We are selling Underwear in our stores cheaper and have a greater variety, we believe, than you can find elsewhere.

Defeat Pittsburg in Fourth
Game of World's Series.

PITCHER MULLIN INVINCIBLE

Although Thermometer is Down to 34
Degrees, 17,000 Persons Witness
Contest—Pirates Make Six Errors,
But They Do Not Count.

Detroit, Oct. 13.—Detroit defeated Pittsburg 5 to 0 and evened up the count in the world's championship series, each now having two victories to its credit. The game was played with the mercury at 34 degrees above zero, but 17,000 persons braved the chilling temperature and freezing blasts and the great majority of them felt well repaid for their solar exposures because they were with Detroit.

The American league champions outclassed their rivals in every department of the game and the pitching of George Mullin will make one of the brightest bits in the baseball history of Detroit. It is hard to conceive of any pitcher having his opponents more at his mercy than Mullin had Pittsburg. There was never a moment when he was not the absolute master of the situation and he was at his best with men on the bases. Four hits represented the ability of the visitors and no two of these were made in the same inning.

Clark and Wagner Strike Out.
Mullin performed a feat in the third inning that will live long in the annals of baseball and was frozen on the minds of those who saw it. In the third inning he struck out the mighty Wagner with two out and men on second and third. That was a mighty feat, but just previously he had struck out Manager Clarke, a hard hitter, men on first and second. A double steal on Clarke's third strike moved the men to second and third where they were when Wagner came to bat. Leftfield was also a victim on strikes in this same inning, giving Mullin three strikeouts in one session. All told, he struck out the visitors ten times.

Detroit scored because it was able to hit when hits spelled runs. Stange, Jennings' young catcher, distinguished himself in the second inning by sending Detroit's first two runs across the plate with a drive just out of Miller's reach. In the fourth inning Bush's rixing double into the overflow crowd in the left field scored another run and it was immediately followed by another two-bagger into the same place by Ty Cobb.

Leftfield Driven From Mound.
The onslaught by Detroit in the second and fourth innings drove Leftfield, Pittsburg's star left hander from the slab and he was succeeded by the veteran Phillips, who was able to stem the Detroit tide, although they pressed him hard in the eighth inning. Eight hits were made by Detroit and six of those came in the two innings when the scores were made.

The cold apparently affected the Pittsburg fielding far more than it did Detroit's, as the National league champions put up a miserable exhibition in that department. Six errors were charged to the infield—Abstein, Miller and Phillips each getting two. The six errors detract little credit from Detroit's performance, as only one of them figured in the scoring.

The conclusive victory of Detroit has toppled Pittsburg from its proud position as the favorite in the betting and even money is now being offered as a more equitable indication of the relative merits of the two major league champions. The teams left for Pittsburg and the fifth game will be played at Forbes Field today. The scene will then shift back to this city, where the sixth game is scheduled for Thursday.

So thoroughly did Mullin do his work that there were only six balls hit to the outfield. Three of these were safe hits and the other three were divided, two flies to Crawford and one to Cobb.

Detroit broke Leftfield's defense in the first inning, when Cobb was hit by a pitched ball after two were out. Cobb moved to second when Abstein dropped Leftfield's throw that caught the Detroit star off first. Crawford ended the inning with a fly to Leach.

The attendance was 17,036 and the receipts $21,103. The receipts are divided as follows: National commission, $2,110.20; players, $11,395.62; each club, $3,796.54. The totals for the four games—all in which the players will share—follow: National commission, $12,888.80; players, $80,924.10; each club, $22,308.30; grand total, $123,981. The winning players will receive $40,154.84 and the losers will be allowed to divide $25,769.96. The total attendance for the four games has been 65,541. Score.

South African Ostrich Feather Sale.

Absolutely the Best Values in Rich Ostrich
Plumes Ever Offered in Fayette County.

Anticipating the great demand for plumes we early placed an order with one of America's largest importers and have received a collection of the finest South African plumes at "first hand" prices. They would be good values as ordinarily priced but in order to turn them quickly we will offer them for one week (if they last that long) at from one-third to one-half less than is usually asked for plumes of equal value.

Sale Begins Wednesday, October 13, and continues One Week.

The finest Ostrich Plumes come from South Africa. They are plucked from wild, hardy, male birds, thus assuring greater wearing life than those from delicate tame birds reared in captivity.

Untrimmed Shapes.

In connection with this sale we bought and now have on hand a large and varied assortment of velvet, bengaline, moire and felt shapes—all up-to-the-minute styles. They will be specially priced for this sale at

$2.50

A Suggestion

This sale may help you solve your hat problem. An untrimmed shape, a plume or two and the crafty woman can with her own good taste and nimble fingers fashion for herself a stylish, attractive hat at small cost. You can figure it out for yourself.

An Extraordinary Assortment

This is the largest assortment of plumes ever shown in Fayette county, possibly in Southwestern Pennsylvania. Pittsburg excepted. It is not only large, but consists of the very finest black and white plumes and the most exquisite color effects. Large French curl heads with handsome glossy finish and genuine hand-tied willow plumes—long, silky and beautiful—for the fountain effect, all made of selected feathers with extra broad fibers.

Ostrich plumes this season will be more in favor than ever before. The leading styles and shapes demand its use. You cannot afford to let pass this opportunity to select from such a fine assortment at practically half price.

A good plume is an economical, as well as a most elegant trimming. It is the only trimming that can be worn year after year and still be in perfect style and good taste.

Trimmed Shapes.

Special for the week only, one lot of Dress Hats, consisting of velvet, felt, bengaline and moire shapes, trimmed with wings, coques uncurled ostrich, fancy feathers, etc. These hats are our regular $6.50 and $7.50 hats, specially priced at

$4.98

Window Display

In our windows are interesting and instructive displays. Several ostrich eggs are in the collection; also feathers in their raw state and some fine specimens of French and willow plumes. It will be well worth your while to see them.
